WRITING (письмо) 15.

I opened the letter from my cousins in Moscow, feeling a rush of excitement and nostalgia. The envelope, marked with Cyrillic script and vibrant stamps, was a portal to a distant world. Anna and Alexei's words painted vivid images of their life in Moscow - historic architecture, crisp winter air, and cozy apartments. They shared updates on school and new hobbies like ice hockey, embodying the city's spirit.

Their genuine interest in my life and cultural differences made the miles feel smaller. They reminisced about our shared childhood memories, summers filled with laughter and exploration. These memories were treasures, carefully preserved.

The letter closed with hopes of visiting soon, creating new memories together. Folding the pages, I felt a renewed connection and gratitude. Despite the distance, our bond remained strong, a testament to the power of family and shared history.
